competent to do the work required The witnesses named on the indorsement of the indictment are George H. Clarke, Saul Singer, the owner of the building, Samuel D. Donnelly, Franklin Nevins and Jacob Fradus, a wrecking contractor, who told the Lockwood Committee he had been ruined by Brindell.
INDICTMENT WAS EXPECTED

FROM FIRST.

It has been a foregone conclusion mince the first few hearings of the Lockwood Committee that Brindell. would be the first person indicted among the builders, contractors and labor union officials regarding whom the committee has taken evidence. The indictment of George Backer for perjury was incidental to his persisting in telling contradictory stories regarding the payment of a $25,000 bribe, due as now confessed by his counsel, in arguing a demurrer to an unwillingness to name Brindell.

Counsel of the Committee, when asked why Srindell was not indicted at once, have explained that the separate charges against him were suscoptible of separate attack because of small corroboration and it was necessary to get corroboration of the damaging statements made by Committee witnesses. It was also necesmary to co-relate the thirty accusa-Mons (more or ices) made against Bringell so that they would support each other by their mass.

It was necessary to draw all the interlocking and complicated charges to resist technical assaults by counsel. For this reason Emery Buckner, a former District Attorney and an expert in the drawing of indictments. with a force of assistants made their tank purposely deliberate. They had MR. UNTERMYER ASKS FOR determined to put off the actual drawing of indictments for two weeks, if necessary, as it obviously has not been

Because of a cold contracted by Chief Counsel Samuel Untermyer of the Lockwood Committee investigating housing conditions there was a postponement until 10 o'clock tomorrow of the sessions of the committee. George Backer, the rich contractor, who admitted he had given a bribe of $25,000 to Brindell, under indictment for perjury in his committee testimony, pleaded not guilty before Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions. A demurrar to the indictment was overruled. Assistant District Attorney Robert Johnstone gave notice of a motion to have the trial set for the earliest possible date. In a letter charging Mr. Untermyer with "vicious and unfair tactica," Mayor Hylan replied to-day to a letter from Untermyer yesterday immugning the sincerity of the examination into city contract conditions by the Board of Estimate and the Corporation Counsel. My Dear Senator: I regret that it will be necessary for me to: ask you to postpone the inquiry until to-morrow morning, at which time I am assured I will be able to resume. My indisposition is not serious. A cold I contracted a few days ago has aggravated a chronic bronchial section and renders it unsafe for me to venture out in this inclement weather. With a day's rest, confinement to my room and a little medical care, I shall doubt-
